A Warm Baby This Would Be If Editors Never Lied.

[By A. W. SOWARDS.]

It has been said that editors use the whitewash brush in obituaries, and dare not tell the truth about the dead or the living. This is not a fact. The editor simply wants to make the living feel good as he can, and assuage the grief with taffy. Occasionally we are willing to tell things just as they are in detail. How will the following do for a start:

"Died, Thomas P. Nogood, aged 26 years, 6 months and 13 days. Deceased was a red-headed son-of-a-gun, who stole chickens and had a whisky nose. He owed Lewis for the clothes he was buried in and the undertaker had to get the cost of the casket from the county. Deceased was a mild-mannered pirate, with a mouth for booze and an eye for bottle. He came here in the night with another man's wife, and joined the church the first chance. He owed several dollars for the paper, a big meat bill, and you could hear him pray for six blocks. He died singing 'Jesus Paid It All,' and we think he was right, as he never paid anything himself. He was buried in an asbestos-lined coffin, and his many friends threw in palm-leaf fans as he may need them. Let him R. I. P. (rest in peace)."

"Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O. Bloomer, a ten pound boy. This one has two legs, and fortunately hasn't a hare-lip or bat-eyes. This is the tenth one now living, if none of them haven't starved to death since our last issue."

PUBLIC WELL

Has Become Most Popular Health Resort in This Entire Section.

Hundreds of Citizens Flock There Daily to Partake of Crystal Water With Health Restoring Qualities.

Hundreds of our citizens have been leaving this city and visiting the various watering places in our land, hoping that perchance they might be benefited thereby, but not until within the past few weeks was the public aware that we have right on the public Square in our city one of the finest health giving fountains of water to be found anywhere.

This well was drilled in for the courthouse several years ago and when it was completed, the water was found to contain some kind of mineral that at first was not altogether pleasant to the taste, consequently the well was abandoned and for years was not used at all. Two years ago when the work of rebuilding the courthouse was begun the contractors had the old pump taken in the well repaired so that it could be used and began to use the water for making mortar and various purposes for which water is used. From that time on some few began to use the water because it was convenient and yet no one thought anything of it.

Finally some of our citizens who had been troubled for years with indigestion and stomach trouble began to use the water and in a very short time they began to notice an improvement in their health. Then the thought dawned upon some one that perhaps the water was doing it. It was talked quietly at first, for no one wanted to be ridiculed for proclaiming such statements publicly. However, the word was quietly passed around to others who suffered with the same disease and they began using the water and in a few days they too could see a marked improvement in their health. The talk at last became general until now hundreds of people visit the well every day, and some three and four times a day to drink of its water and as a consequence our physicians are all thinking of locating elsewhere, while hundreds of gallons of the crystal water is carried away in buckets, bottles and jugs every day.

We doubt if there is a finer or better mineral well or spring to be found anywhere for health restoring properties than are contained in this well, while it is as cold as ice-water and has no unpleasant taste aside from a slight resemblance to Blue Lick, which one soon learns to like.

We predict that within a short time visitors will begin coming here from far and near to drink of this great health restoring fountain of water that until recently was not known by even our citizens.

Socialism Unmasked.

President Roosevelt's keen analysis of one of the chief fallacies of socialism, in the course of his address Saturday at the unveiling of a monument to a Long Island pioneer, was eminently timely. Socialistic agitators promise to be especially active this year in connection with the presidential campaign. Those of the comparatively tame or parlor variety have not hesitated in the past to assert that President Roosevelt himself was inclined toward some of their pet principles, and the ridiculous statement was accepted at its face value by their deluded hearers. No principle has been more vigorously enunciated by President Roosevelt than the perniciousness of special privilege. The "square deal" policy for all means the special privilege for none. And, as President Roosevelt points out, there is no grosser example of special privilege than that held out to their followers as an ideal by certain socialist leaders, "the ideal that every man shall put into the common fund what he can, which would mean what he chose, and should take out whatever he wanted." On this principle the laziest and most incompetent member of the community takes from the common fund what he has not earned, practically robbing his industrious neighbor of the fruits of his toil. Is it not special privilege, what is it?

At the present time there are more than the proverbial 57 varieties of socialists in the United States, each branch claiming to be the parent stem. The clash of opinions among a few of these varieties come together is truly terrifying as well as confusing, as witness the discordant discussions at their recent conventions. But most of them can unite on the communistic principle which President Roosevelt has singled out as a gross example of special privilege. It will be interesting to hear now from the socialistic gentlemen who have been claiming President Roosevelt as a comrade.

PROSPECTS

Growing Brighter For Waterworks in Our City.

Col. Gay left here last week for Lexington with all the maps and such other information as he needed relative to the water-works plant which he proposes to install here, but before leaving submitted a proposition to officials which they will accept provided the people will vote the privilege.

The proposition will cost the city $1,200 per year for thirty-five plugs, or $40 each, and this can be paid without increasing the taxes, all that will be necessary is for the people to vote the privilege to the council.

If the proposition goes through the question will be voted on at an early date and if it carries work will begin before cold weather on installing a water-plant in our city equal to the best that can be found anywhere.

There is no doubt but that if left to the people that we will soon enjoy all the luxuries of a complete water-works system and at the same time have a great saving in reduced insurance against fire.

SPANISH CLASS

Prospect Favorable For a Class to Begin Soon.

Prof. Lytle informs us that the prospects for beginning a class in Spanish by about September 1st, is very flattering, and that pupils are signing up for the work right along.

He informs the writer that by taking two hours work each night for about five months that a pupil can learn to speak fluently this language which is now becoming so popular, and which is useful to almost any one who expects to be thrown with the business world.

The term will begin about September 1st, and continue for five months each evening from 7 to 9 p. m. and the tuition will be only $5 per month or $25 for the term of five months.

Who is it that would not gladly give $25 to be able to speak the Spanish language.

ADDRESS

By J. W. McNamara on Odd Fellowship

July 4, at Richland Lodge No. 263, I. O. O. F.

Hopper, Ky.,

Mr. Chairman, Brothers and Sisters, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I rise before you not to erase anything that you have been listening to but will add in response. It gives me pleasure to meet with so many of my brothers and sisters in the beloved order of Odd Fellows, and to listen to the voice of welcome given by our worthy, brother And, as I before stated, I do not want to erase anything but wish to call your attention to the fact; in the city of Baltimore rises a modest shaft which bears upon its base this inscription: "He who realizes that the true mission of man on earth is to rise above the level of individual influence, and to recognize the Fatherhood of God over all, and the Brotherhood of man is nature's true noblesman." For more than eighty-five years Odd Fellowship has lived in the broad sun-light of America. It has been tested by a practical people and has become the handmaid of an intelligent race.

Bodily proclaiming its belief in the universal Fatherhood of God and in the Brotherhood of his children admitting into, and retaining in its membership only those who profess belief in and reliance upon the common Father of us all. It has quietly, patiently, persistently trod the path of Obligation, and of duty—the sure of the victory of endurance borne.

It has been assailed but never defeated. Wounded but never destroyed. Its animating principles are heaven born, and not to be effaced from earth by human agencies, even when those agencies are directed by fanatic brains or ordered by the bigot's zeal. Odd Fellowship has a place in the world's work and history, and it has come to stay.

It has never proclaimed itself as the sole heir of past good, nor pretended to be the only repository of human wisdom or charity. It has claimed, and does now claim, to be a great moral power; to be a practical weapon, in the hands of practical people; with which to meet the enemies of man and of the human progress. Teaching loyalty to God, to man, to country, and to law. It has called into active fellowship more than two million living souls. Today there are eight hundred thousand men following the white symbol of its world wide fraternity.

There is an element of splendid worth, a glowing heart of life in an organization, that in eighty-eight years has become the most powerful "secret" society in America; that has its influence in foreign lands; that has unfurled its flag on the continent of Europe and amid the isles of the sea; that is doing a great work in behalf of mankind, and by deeds, has won an enduring place in the affection of an observing people. Though responding in times of public distress and calamity to every appeal for aid, Odd Fellowship has never been an alms-giver in the public place. It has not proclaimed its gifts from the mountain tops nor named its beneficiaries to a careless and criticising world; but in the seclusion of the sorrowing home, by the desolate hearthstone, in the abode of sickness and want, the careworn, weary sufferer gladly welcomes the Brothers and Sisters who come bearing the corn and wine.

The annals of Odd Fellowship are written in the hearts of brother relieved, of widows comforted, and "cared for," of little children clothed and sheltered and educated. Those among us who remember the order fifty years, and have noted its rapid advancement since, have good reasons for believing that the golden age of Odd Fellowship has been attained; and yet with its multiplied agencies for charitable work, and ample resources for carrying it onward, who can venture to predict its possible future? We can only rejoice in its present exalted position and pray that our leaders may have divine help granted them to act wisely and well in all things.

Year by year we are called to mourn the departure of beloved brethren who having finished their work do now rest from their labors; and we in our turn must follow them. But our principles are eternal. The same great duties will still be taught in the same mystic language that we now speak. We may soon pass away; but our fellowship will remain and the memorial of the departed will bind the distant days of the future in hallowed union with the present time. The Temples will still be the shelter of the wretched and suffering, while Friendship, Love and Truth will continue to preside over its rites. Thanking one and all for your kind attention, I now give way to my worthy brother.

WILLIAM ASH

Buried at Hawn Graveyard Sunday by Red Men.

Mr. William Ash, died at Grays, Ky., last Saturday July 11, aged 40 years, and the remains were brought to this city Sunday morning and laid to rest in the Hawn grave-yard three miles down the river.

He was a member of Sago tribe No. 74, of Westburn, Tenn., and Tchoupitoulas Tribe buried him with the honors of Redmanship.

He was injured in a mine about 15 months ago and never recovered. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn their loss.

There were the following brothers from Grays who accompanied the remains to its last resting place: Joe Frost, R. G. Steele, James Allen, C. P. Donaldson, Mat Sullivan and John Parton.

W. H. McDonald acted as Sachem, Chas. Davis, Prophet, D. W. Clark, Sr. Sagamore, D. T. Wilson, Jr. Sagamore, A. G. Bolton, Sannap, William McDaniel, Guard of the Wigwam, W. D. Chamberlain, Guard of the Forest, W. H. Green, Mischinewa.

Mat Sullivan, J. F. Catron, R. G. Steele, J. A. Barton, James Allen and Joe Frost were the pallbearers.

A Costly Cigar.

James E. Clay, of Bourbon county, lost eighty tons of straw and five hundred sacks of wheat as the result of a lighted cigar being thrown among the straw. The blaze, fanned by a brisk wind, was terrific, and heroic work was necessary on the part of a large force of men to keep the fire from spreading to other fields, as the adjoining grass was very dry and parched. The wheat was on slightly damaged, but rendered unmerchantable by the smoke. Mr. Clay will feed the wheat to his hogs.

Has Not Resigned.

The report that Rev. Arvin had resigned as pastor of the Baptist church is not true. He has not resigned and has no such intentions.

Don't teach your children that is a shame to wear worn and patched clothes if you are not able to afford better, but there is no honor in wearing new ones that are not paid for. A poet said, "Remember, that rags may cover a boy, who will some day be the worlds great joy."

A Correction.

Through an error in the type setting last week we were made to say that Willie McDonald was a son of Judge D. McDonald, when it should have stated that he was a nephew. This statement is made to correct the wrong impression that might go out that two of the same family were candidates, when in fact they are only cousins.

The Civic League will meet Wednesday afternoon, July 22, at the Baptist church, at three o'clock. All members are requested to be present and bring at least one new member. Flowers purchased with the appropriation of the Court are now being planted. The League asks a donation of one or more red geraniums from those citizens who have them or can get them

The great foe to home, peace and happiness is worry. The habit of worry keeps us crossing bridges before we reach them. The evils that fret us most are those which threaten us but have not yet arrived. Stop worrying about the bread that you are afraid will not rise, the new dress you are sure the dressmaker will spoil, and the new hat that is being trimmed. If you will firmly resolve to worry only about the evil or special hardship this hour or minute and can't be avoided, ninety-nine cases out of one hundred you will find there is no such evil or hardship.

Base Ball.

A batted ball from V. C. McDonald's bat struck the pitcher of the London team on the neck and knocked him out of the box.

Mr. Patterson is a member of The Red Men and Odd Fellows, and is an honored member of both orders.

He places his claims in the hands of the Republican party and will abide by the results as expressed at the poll of the primary.

If elected he will faithfully discharge the duties his office to the best of his ability.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The case of Thomas Grambrell, charged with conspiring with his brothers to kill his cousin, John Grambrell, was tried again by a Whitley county jury last week. The argument closed after supper Saturday night and the jury brought in a verdict on Sunday morning of not guilty. The court empaneled a special grand jury during the week and they returned quite a batch of true bills and were called to meet again yesterday when the court resumed business here after a few days spent in London where a special term has been held this week.

Oregon's election returns show a larger Republican majority than usual. By and by Maine and Vermont will contribute a few straws by way of a reminder to Mr. Bryan that the "revulsion" has turned in its path.

A Great Land Opening.

Washington, D. C., June 22, 1900.
A number of exceptional opportunities are now being offered by the Government for enterprising and intelligent farmers to secure choice farms on a dozen or more large irrigation projects which are nearing completion.

Owing to the rapid narrowing of the limits of the unoccupied public domain, it is doubtful if these opportunities will ever occur again. It is probable, therefore, that the West will see one of the greatest influxes of homesteaders in 1900 that has been witnessed in many years.

The great fertility and wonderful crop yields from irrigated lands, and the favorable terms the Government offers settlers, warrants the belief that before the year closes not a single farm will be without its entryman. These farms are located in North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and Nevada.

A letter addressed to The Stationer, U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C., will secure full information concerning the location, soil, climate, crop possibilities, and terms of disposal.

Wanted:—Live minks and live black polecats. I will pay more for them than you can get for the furs. When you bring them in and say you saw this notice in The Mountain Advocate you will get your money.

were ordered for 30 days' trial by readers of our advertising in one medium only. 112 only were returned from all causes. It must be assumed that the 2018 people who kept and paid for the washer did so because it was worth more to them than the money it cost. They all had the privilege of returning the "EASY" at our expense same as you will have if you try one. They kept it because it solved the washing problem for them. You will keep it for the same reason if you try it.

They expressed their satisfaction in the most positive terms. We will show extracts from their letters upon your request. Ask for our free book. It tells you why the "EASY" is a woman's machine. Pages 3-20 tell you how to cut washing expense in half and save your clothes whole, white and sweet, the way you like them. Pages 33-24 tell you how washing and bleaching are done in one operation.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

Pleasant Evening Reviews—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.—Crude Thoughts from the Editorial Pen.

Infidelity is a moral Desert of Sahara; nothing grows in it but sand. What has it done? What light has it flashed into darkness? What hope has it given to the despairing? What knowledge has it given to the guilty? What knowledge has it taught—what goodness shown? None. Nor can it. A negative has no positive force—an enuch might as well try to beguile children. Nor infidelity never raised a man or woman from sin. It never took a drunkard from the gutter, or a gambler from his cards, or the fallen from a life of shame. It never found a man coarse or brutal in life and character, and made of him a kind husband and father. It never went into heathen lands among morally depraved and lifted them out of their degradation to a high state of civilization. It has never written down languages, translated literature or prepared text-books, or planted schools, or established seminaries and colleges. It has never founded hospital for the sick or built homes for the helpless. What discoveries has it made? Has it added anything to human happiness? Does it bring one ray of comfort to the chamber of death? The religion of Jesus has done this, and more, too. "The tree is known by its fruits."

A KIND WORD.

A kind word costs but little, but it may bless all day the one to whom it is spoken. Nay, have not kind words been spoken to you that lived in your heart through years, and borne fruit of joy and hope? Let us speak kindly to one another. We have burdens and worries, but let us not, therefore, rasp and irritate those near us, those we love, those whom Christ would have us save. Speak kindly in the morning; it lightens the cares of the day, and makes the household and all its affairs move along smoothly. Speak kindly at night; it may be before dawn some loved one may finish his or her space of life for this world, and it will be too late to ask forgiveness.

THE WATCHER IN THE PEW.

His neck is fitted on a globe-socket, and turns clear around. He sees everything that goes on. The man who comes in late does not escape him, and it is vain for the tenor to think that he got that little note to the alto, conveyed between the leaves of a hymn-book, unobserved. The watcher saw it. He sees the hole in the quarter that Elder Skinner dropped in the plate. He sees that Deacon Slowhow has but one cuff. If the door swings, he looks around; if the window moves noiselessly, he looks up. He sees the stranger in his neighbor's pew, and he sees Brother Brown sitting away back under the gallery. He sees Brother Ballman take a chew of the inhibited tobacco. All things that he nobody wants him to see, the watcher sees. He sees so much that he has no time to listen.

SENSIBLE ADVICE.

You would laugh at the child who should try pick up a heavy sledge hammer to kill a mosquito. But many grown-up children quite as foolishly use their strength. They fret, worry, whirl about, get into a passion, have not time to eat or sleep properly—indeed, often set up so late and get up so tired that they can't sleep. These persons, whether old or young, need to learn the following simple rules: 1, never fret yourself nor anybody, 2, never indulge in fits of passion, nor the blues, 3, never do things in a confused hurry, eat regularly, cheerfully, moderately, but don't eat what is indigestible, 5, don't cut short your sleep. Get eight hours of it in clean, ventilated rooms. Be self-confident, calm, hopeful. Keep a good conscience and cheerfully trust God.

You will never have a friend if you must have one without a fault.

A woman without religion is like a flower without perfume.

COMPANY GARB.

Too many of us seem to act on the principle that anything is good enough for those we associate with at home. They are "our folks" and it doesn't matter what we say or do, or how we say or how we do it, when no outsider is present. We have our every-day clothes and manners on them. When some one calls we put on our company garb, and we are very different persons. We hardly know each other, so great is the transformation. We are a charming family, as our visitors probably think, because of the harmony that exists. But when the door closed on our visitors we draw a breath of relief and feel at liberty to relapse into our old ways again. We are so unused to company ways that we do not feel at home in them. But this is all wrong. We ought to consider home and all the members of the household as entitled to the first consideration in all things. What are those we meet in society to us that we should take such pains to be agreeable to them and neglect those who have the strongest claim upon us? It all comes about because we have got into a wrong way of thinking. We have put the home in the background when it should occupy the foremost place in our thoughts. We should strive to make ourselves such pleasant members of the household band that our absence is like the loss of the sunshine from a summer day. We can do it and we will do it if we enter into the right spirit—the spirit of home. The idea seems to exist among us that to be polite to each other in the family circle is foolish and like putting on airs. We must rid ourselves this notion and act on the principle that whatever helps to make our intercourse pleasant outside the family should be brought into use there. We should avail ourselves of any and everything that can be used to an advantage in our daily intercourse. It is no exhibition of airiness to say "thank you," or "if you please." These little courtesies are indications of refinement, and costing nothing, they help to make the wheels of life move smoothly. It is not in elaborate attempts at politeness that true gentility exists. It is in the simple, honest expression of the genuine feelings of the heart which is interested in the welfare of others. Our company politeness is superficial because we care little or nothing for those we try to be polite to. It is assumed. But if we are interested in those at home and are anxious to make their lives pleasant, we will endeavor to give expression to that interest, and in doing that we will be doing a really polite thing for such feelings. The cultivation of this expression will be the possible education in true politeness.

A community torn by dissensions, rent asunder by strife and contention—the people ready always to fly at each other's throats on account of rivalry and petty jealousies—can never hope to succeed. The universal brotherhood of man is constantly derided and the end of time will appear before this great desideratum can be brought about, unless man shall be brought to the realization of this, his dominant, weakness. Let him inquire, "Who is my neighbor?"

If there is a chance to boom business, boom it. Don't put on a long face and look as if you had the stomach-ache. Hold up your head, smile and look for better things. Hide your little hammer, and speak well of others.

Now I want to say to you for all time to come, that you can always find goods at the Mammoth Store at as low prices as any of my competitors can afford to sell them, and if I sell them to you lower I hope you won't grumble at it. My motto is
